INTRODUCTION

America's home-grown sport of basketball is an exciting game of tremendous popularity. All-Pro Basketball was designed to bring the same excitement and the realism of the original. The same rules, techniques, and action you have come to expect in the sport are very much a part of All-Pro Basketball.

All-Pro Basketball comes with eight teams representing the cream of professional basketball. You will have to work hard at bringing the championship to your team!

If you live for the fast break, dream of the slam and jam, and play to win them all, then All-Pro Basketball is the video game for you!

League Competition

Each team will play each other 5 times for a total of 35 contests during the "season". A team needs to win at least three times against each opponent to become champion. If you keep in mind that each team possesses different skills, you can come up with some very interesting match-ups. You can also do some exciting things by teaming up with a friend to fight the computer's team.

Player vs Player

There is some exciting, realistic action in this mode, including fouls and steals.

All-Pro Basketball As A Spectator Sport

You can also sit back and enjoy All-Pro Basketball as a spectator. The opposing teams will compete under the guidance of the computer. Here you can study how the game can be played at its highest level. This is where you pick up tips and techniques from the Pros!

PLAYING ALL-PRO BASKETBALL

◆ Tip Off

The game begins with a tip off (jump ball) between the opposing teams. Each team will suit up twelve players. Five of these can be on the court at the same time. You must dribble, pass, and shoot all the while with a clock ticking down during the action.

Direction

The screen will scroll both vertically and horizontally in the course of a game.

When crossing the center line the screen will flip to the basket you are approaching.

Direction

There is a three-point shot line on the court. A shot from beyond this line is worth three points when the shot is made. Note: Stand near the sidelines on three-point attempts from the side.

There are twenty minute for each half of the game. If there is a tie at the end of regulation play, you will go into a five-minute overtime. Of course, real time is different from the time shown on the scoreboard in All-Pro Basketball.

CONTROL

◆ Controller parts

★ Single Player vs. Computer (CPU)

Player 1 vs. Player 2

(Offense)

Basketball players can be controlled individually.

Numbers will appear over the head of the basketball player that can currently be controlled.

(Note: Select-button has no effect.)

Note that both the number 1 and the number 2 will appear in a player vs. player game.

Only a number 1 appears in a player vs. computer situation. The \oplus button manipulates the direction of the basketball players.

Passing

Pushing the A-button on offense will allow you to pass the ball, including inbound passes, to another basketball player.

<Inbound Passes>

Jumping

The B-button makes a basketball player jump.

Making a Jump Pass

Push the B-button, then hit the A-button quickly.

Shooting

Push the B-button, then hit the B-button once again quickly.

Make your passes only to those basketball players which have an arrow over them. You may have several passing options, so you will need to indicate the basketball player to receive your pass by using the  button.

QUICK Reference

(Defense)

You can control the basketball players indicated by the number 1 (or 2 in two player games). The  button not only allows you to move individual basketball players, but also allows you to make steals. If you can manage to touch a ball being dribbled by your opponent, you will get a steal.

Pushing the A-button places the number over the head of your player closest to the opposing player who has the ball. Pushing the A-button one more time puts your player into a defense posture that will help him steal the ball.

Quick Reference

- A-button : Moves the control mark (the number 1 or 2)
Also puts player into defense posture.
- B-button : Jump
- + button : Move basketball players.

★ 2 PLAYERS VS. COMPUTER (CPU)

In this mode 2 players can share control over a single team; the other team will be controlled by the computer. Player 1 controls the basketball players which are indicated by the number 1, player 2 controls those basketball players with a number 2 over their heads.

Nintendo ENTERTAINMENT SYSTEM

On offense you can pass the ball to the players on the screen which are under your control. For example, if you are player 1, four players on screen are under your control; the one which has the number 1 above its head and three more players. This means that your partner (player number 2) has control over the one remaining player on the team. To pass the ball to the screen player controled by your partner (player 2) you must put the arrow over the screen player marked with the number 2.

◆ Substitution of Players

You have the ability to substitute players on your team. The lineup is up to you. Choose the five players that you want to play with based on their unique individual skills. Remember that basketball players get tired!

You should substitute wisely. On your roster of twelve players, some players may possess defensive skills others offensive talent.

The skills and the stamina of your players will be shown when you pop up the Player Sub Screen.

Each player's stamina will be displayed in one of three colors. At first the color is green, then yellow, and finally it is red. Green indicates the highest degree of stamina. A player must rest on the bench for some time to regain his stamina.

Note: All players on your team have a hidden skill. You will have to play them to find out what these secret skills are.

(Using the Player Sub Screen)

You can only use the PLAYER SUB SCREEN when play has been stopped because of a foul. Note that you can only substitute one player at a time. Return to the game screen and pop up the Player Sub Screen again if you wish to substitute an additional player. All substitutions must be made quickly between the time the whistle is blown and the time the foul shot is taken.

Pushing the A-button and B-button simultaneously will pause game play after a foul has been called. The  button moves the arrow to the basketball player who will be pulled out of the game. After this, pushing the A-button will bring up the Player Sub Screen. In the Player Sub Screen, the word OUT will be shown to the left of the player just removed from the game. At this point you need to select the player to go into the game. Once again, the  button will allow you to select the player. You will be able to choose from among those players with an IN to the left of their name. Pushing the A-button with the marker on your choice puts that player into the game.

Note: Only one of your four star players (their pictures will be displayed) can play in the game. This star must play with four other players on your team.

FOULS

~ Personal Fouls ~

These fouls include pushing, charging, blocking, etc. Upon a personal foul, the ball will change hands.

~ Violations ~

These include travelling, over-and-back (for the sake of brevity we will refer to this as "back pass" in the game), out-of-bounds, 5-seconds, 10-seconds, 24-seconds, etc. Upon a violation, the ball will change hands.

~ Others ~

If your team has 8 fouls in a half, the opposing team will go to the free throw line, and upon each foul thereafter. A foul committed "in the paint" (in the key area) will give the opposing team a free throw.

If a foul is called, you will hear a whistle. Immediately, the type of foul called will be displayed on the screen.

<Free Throw>

<Foul Call>

You will get two chances to hit a free throw whenever a foul is called. Pushing the B-button will shoot the ball, but you must time your shot with the arrow moving above the hoop.

TEAM INTRODUCTIONS

(New York Slicks)

Balanced offense and defense. Shooting skills are among the best in the league. Experts give this team a good shot at the championship.

(Chicago Zephyrs)

An aggressive team, bruising on the dribble, drives hard to the hoop. However, they often miss their slam dunks. They are also a bit careless with the ball; it's easy to steal on them.

(Boston Redcoats)

This team plays better offense than defense. There are fine dribblers on the squad, and they shoot well from "inside the paint" and from medium range.

(Los Angeles Breakers)

This team is gifted with speed, and can really move the ball on the break. However, they do not shoot well from medium and long range. Their defense is quick, but inconsistent.

(Dallas Stallions)

This team plays better defense than offense. Shooting is spotty, but players can put it in from anywhere on occasion.

(Phoenix Wings)

Overall, this team has more talent than the Slicks. A gifted team on offense, particularly on handling the ball. Their weakness is a tendency for selfish play.

(Seattle Sonics)

Exceptionally quick passing on this team. These guys can really put up the threepoint shots. Ball-handling is weak, but don't take this team lightly.

(San Francisco Bayriders)

This team plays tremendous, pressure defense. Passing is weak so opposing teams often come up with a steal. However, no team can beat this team's longrange shooting.
